WonderLab knows that children and families need play now more than ever. The past months have created change and uncertainty for our entire community and we know that building and maintaining connections through shared experiences in familiar spaces can help to counter the stress and anxiety experienced by many children.

As a vital community resource, WonderLab remains steadfast in our mission to provide playful spaces that help children and families thrive - both on-site in the physical museum and online – and become excited and curious learners.

WonderLab Museum inspires youth to become the science and technology leaders of the future. WonderLab is also a place where bridges are built across political, cultural and thought divides in our increasingly polarized world. At WonderLab, we give all children the opportunity to excel and build the problem-solving skills that all of us will increasingly depend upon to address the complicated problems that affect us every day.

Thank you for being here. Thank you for your support. Here’s to educating and empowering the next generation of wonder!

Karen Jepson-Innes
Executive Director
WonderLab Museum